

Welcome to StormSensor!

StormSensor is expanding our team! StormSensor, a climate technology startup, works with cities to help them address the triple threat facing our sewer, stormwater, and coastal infrastructure: our pipes are aging, undersized, and facing climate impacts. Our high-resolution sensor networks enable cities to track how water moves through subsurface infrastructure, and our intuitive software and analytics provide cities with actionable insights to help them adapt to risks from urban flooding, sea level rise, tidal surges, and storms.
